Summary

- Another day of gains for the stocks at BVB; ECB's President comments boosted markets; another deal was made with FP stocks (56.3 mn RON)
- Money market rates started to climb again; yields are not higher than last week although the perceived risk aversion as showed by the CDS is higher (+36 bp)

Yesterday was another day of gains when all indices finished in the green, with an advance up to 1%. External influences are the drivers of the market. ECB President Mario Draghi stated that all the necessary measures will be taken to prevent the euro-zone from crashing and this sent the stocks and the euro up, while safe heaven assets such as German bunds retreated. This move came after the euro reached the two year low against the dollar this week and already the talks about Spain potentially asking for a bailout were advancing too rapidly. The measures will likely be announced at the next meeting of the ECB policy makers next week. The turnover at BVB was high and dominated by transactions with FP. There was another deal with FP stocks for 56.3 mn RON.

In Romania, all eyes are on the referendum to be hold on 29th of July and the validity will be disclosed by the Constitutional Court on 30th July. More important than the result in itself seems to be achieving a political stability after the referendum as the potential outcomes are rather obvious: should the President survive the vote, we expect further power clashes between the Government and Mr. Basescu, nevertheless the ruling coalition USL will remain after November elections (according to all surveys). Should the President not survive, Romania will hold presidential elections in three months and until then the interim president will be Mr. Crin Antonescu. The highest stake is 2013 budget, given that the current government already announced a set of measures which have as a first result decreasing budget revenues. The question of the continuation of the IMF agreement beyond 2013 is being raised. Earlier this year, when Romania issued bonds on the international markets, Mugur Isarescu stated that we should build a history in such bond issues because continuing with the agreement will be a sign of weakness. However, the European crisis has not settled yet.

Money market rates started to climb again. The 5Y CDS is at 403 bp. Government yields have not advanced yet compared to last week although the perceived risk aversion as showed by the CDS is higher (+36 bp).
